Cyclist injured in hit and run accident

A cyclist was injured in a hit and run accident in Rosythe Rd., Waipu last week.

At around 1pm on Monday 4 March, the cyclist was riding southwards along Rosythe Rd., when she looked up to see a car had crossed the centre line and was coming straight towards her.

She took evasive action, moving to the left, but could not get out of the way in time. She flew up against the windscreen and right over the car, landing on the road. The driver of the car did not stop to see if she was injured but drove away.

The cyclist was wearing bright, highly visible clothing. She also had on a good helmet and protective gloves, which helped prevent more serious injury.

While she suffered severe bruising and grazing, she has no broken bones and managed to ride her bike home. She was too stunned to remember any details about the car except that it was rather noisy, possibly with a modified exhaust.

Constable John Van Pomeran, who normally works with the Police Commercial Vehicle Investigation Unit, happened to be in the Waipu Police Station at the time when the cyclist called in to report the incident and took her statement. He said Police are very interested in finding the driver of the car which is likely to have sustained some damage from the collision.

He said anyone who has any idea about who this was should make contact with either the Waipu or Ruakaka Police.

EDITORIALWhat would I know?

Why do I feel so annoyed at the organisation, which calls itself the Bream Bay Business and Promotions Group effectively banning me from its breakfast meetings? (See article on page 7.)

In truth I prefer to spend my mornings at home. I like my start of the day routine, making sure my son eats something healthy before school, watering my garden, going for a bike ride or an early morning walk before I sit down at my computer.

I go to these meetings on your behalf. If I think the speaker is likely to have something to say which you are interested in I forgo all these early morning pleasures and take along my pen and notepad and turn on my journalists antennae on the lookout for something of relevance, importance or even just amusement to Bream Bay News readers, which I would like to point out to the masters of the universe who run the Bream Bay Business and Promotions Group includes a large proportion of the residents of Bream Bay.

Another point I would like to make is that I operate a successful business. I am proud of the fact that I have maintained and grown this business, Bream Bay News Ltd. through some difficult times. I believe successful, sustainable business is not about hoodwinking people and running off with the prize but about providing a useful, quality service which is beneficial to your customers and therefore one which they will come back to you for. Bream Bay News customers are predominantly other local businesses, whose operators I find tend to think in the same way as I do.

A common and very obvious reason for businesses not managing to get off the ground is that there is, in fact, no need for the product they are selling. Oliver Scott, developer of one of the still not built on business parks along One Tree Point Rd, dreamer upper of the mythical Marsden super city and a favoured speaker at the Bream Bay Business and Promotions breakfasts seems to have made this fatal and, in his case, very expensive mistake. To a humble small business operator like myself, spending tens of millions of dollars on a subdivision development before thoroughly checking how much and at what price residential and commercial land is already available in the area does not seem like a very smart business move. But then not being party to these high powered Chatham House meetings where the future of Northland and Northlanders is discussed and decided on by people who need to be able to talk without the constraint of a media presence— what would I know?

$900,000 upgrade for Ruakaka racecourse

The Whangarei Racing Club has received $500,000 funding from the horse racing's governing body – New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing Inc, to proceed with a track expansion at the Ruakaka Race Course.

The project will cost approximately $900,000 and involves widening of the racetrack inwards and the formation of a new sand training track inside the main track and service road inside both these tracks for the ambulance to drive on.

Karen Houlihan, Finance and Projects manager for the Whangarei Club said NZTR views Ruakaka as one of 14 strategic race tracks in New Zealand with the best winter racing surface. The expansion will allow more winter racing at the Ruakaka course, while still providing a quality training track for the horse trainers based here.

The Whangarei District Council has contributed $200,000 towards this project.

Whangarei Racing Club President Dean Logan said, "We copped a bit of flack over this council grant. But really the racecourse is a community facility. The largest contribution is coming from NZTR and we couldn't let the opportunity go by without taking advantage of it."

He said around 15 years ago the NZTR members viewed the Whangarei Race Club as unimportant in the scale of things.

"We were looking at being down scaled with just one or two days racing a year. We have come from that to being the 14th most important track in New Zealand out of a total of 52 tracks. We are aiming to improve on this and become number 10."

Dean said the Ruakaka track has the best winter racing surface in New Zealand and NZTR now views it as one of its strategic racing venues.

Parvovirus outbreak in Ruakaka

There has been an outbreak of canine parvovirus in the Ruakaka Village.

Several dogs have died and a litter of puppies, suspected of having the disease, have been handed over into the care of the SPCA (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals).

Alishea Paikea – Paul's 18-month-old Rottweiler, Lily died of parvovirus last week

Alishea said, "Lily wasn't herself on Saturday night (2 March). She was still running around but she wasn't eating. On Sunday morning she had vomited everywhere and had dysentery.

Alishea took Lily to a veterinarian in Maunu who, after some tests, diagnosed parvovirus. Despite treatments to stop the dysentery and vomiting, Lily died two days later.

Parvovirus is highly contagious and is contracted through direct or indirect contact with the faeces of an infected dog. It can be spread on people's shoes or by car tyres. The virus is extremely virulent and has been found to remain in soil for over a year. A vaccine, given in a series of three shots, three to four weeks apart is available to help protect puppies and young dogs, who are particularly susceptible to the disease.

Alishea is organising a seminar to inform people of the dangers parvovirus poses to dogs and the steps, which need to be taken to prevent it spreading.

"Lily wasn't just my dog, she was my baby. But it's not just about me. I am trying to stop this happening to other people's dogs."

A representative of the SPCA will be present and a veterinarian has also been invited. They will talk about other canine diseases such as mange and ringworm as well.

With the help of Jackie Boyd (who owns another Rottweiler, Lily's mother) Alishea made leaflets and delivered them around the village publishing the seminar, which was due to be held on Wednesday 13 March at 6pm, at the Bream Bay Community Trust.

Alishea and Jackie also plan to fundraise to help people who cannot afford to have their dogs vaccinated.

Congratulations from Zimbabwe

Having read the Bream Bay News of 17th January, 2013, from Page 1 to Page 20, (adverts included), my husband and I wish to congratulate you on an informative and entertaining regional newspaper. We thought your readers may be interested to know that it has been read and enjoyed on the other side of the world - 11 hours behind you!

We received your publication, and the official programme of the Waipu Grand Pageant, from close friends, both Zimbabwean born and bred, who moved to NZ eight years ago and made Waipu their home. They often tell us of the interesting events which take place in Waipu, and we have so enjoyed reading accounts of some of these - the Highlands Games, Waipu Parade, Lifesaving Carnival, and the impressive, historical Grand Pageant!

Thank you for a pleasurable read - and through your paper, may we express our appreciation of the hand of friendship your citizens have extended to ex-Zimbabweans.

Aubrey and Edone Logan.

Juliasdale,

Zimbabwe

Strategy document, uses Sustainable Development at every turn to construct the Strategy for the Plan.

This approach seems to stem from the Clarke government's 2003 Sustainable Development Programme of Action which embraced the UN Plan developed at the Rio de Janeiro Conference in 1992 and is known as Agenda 21. Tracing this further back leads you to Karl Marx. Nonetheless, the UN encourages the Sustainable Development theme through organizations such as ICLEI (International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives), IPBES (Platform on Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services), IPCC (Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change) etc.

So this omission from the Rural Development Strategy is most welcome and I can only hope that the preferred option for the Long Term Plan is not single city and regulated collective farming but rather the 'Don't fix it, it ain't broke and leave it alone' free market option.

"Sustainable Development" omission from Rural Development Plan welcome

After reading your article on the Rural Development Strategy I read through the 2012 Update Brochure of the rural plan and was very pleased to see that 'Sustainable Development' is absent. Sustainable Development is designed to sound like something everyone wants. Unmentioned is who decides what development is and isn't sustainable, not entrepreneurs and consumers, but politicians or the UN.

Cooking classes at the Community Trust

Regular Friday morning cooking classes are being held at the Bream Bay Community Trust. The classes run from 9am to 12 noon with Violet Bazil and Sally Brown as volunteer tutors.

"But it's not really us teaching as much as us all sharing ideas", said Violet.

Participants in an English literacy class have been coming along to practise their English as they cook. This group includes new immigrants to New Zealand who share their recipes.

"We had a Sri Lankan curry last week, it was really yummy" said Violet.

"We have a lot of fun and some good conversations and afterwards we all sit down to eat what we have made. We always make enough for any visitors as well so if anyone turns up around lunch time they are invited to share with us."

The women's organization Zonta donates $50 a week to buy cooking ingredients.

"I don't always spend that much and we have been filling the larder up with baking things", Violet said.

The emphasis is on meals that don't cost a lot to prepare. Violet and Sally also encourage participants to bring along any fruit or garden vegetables they have to spare.

"What we don't use we give away to families we know can use a bit of help," Violet said.

Sally and Violet would be grateful for donations of surplus produce from the wider community and say anyone who wants to join in with the Friday morning cooking "is most welcome."

North Island champions

Ten – year – old Maddie Greatorex of Waipu and her pony Sapphire (Saffy) are the North Island Show Hunter Pony champions.

They won the competition against 70 top ponies at the Open Pony Derby Championships held at Woodhill on Saturday and Sunday 23 and 24 February.

Maddie was up against riders aged from 9 to 17 years.

Saffy, whose show name is Golden Jitterbug, is just three years old. Maddie's mother Adele found her on a visit to Kaikohe. Adele breaks in and trains horses and was visiting a woman who had asked her to work with some of her horses. What made her notice this particular pony?

Adele – "It was the way she moved. She just glided over the surface of the ground. I said to myself, 'That is some pony. I have to have that pony.'"

The woman agreed that Adele could have Saffy in exchange for breaking in her mother.

Maddie demonstrates how Saffy can do a "flying change": swap the lead leg (the one which touches the ground first) in the air, mid canter.

Adele says, "This is a very hard thing to teach a horse to do but Saffy does it naturally."

Maddie has two other ponies - Rosie and Tom, whom she also rides in show hunter events. These are bigger horses and are in a different class, which means bigger jumps.

Adele said, "Everyone comes to watch this gutsy little girl on these big ponies."

Tom also made the final at the North Island championships. Rosie, another young horse was a little too exuberant on the day.

Show hunting is as much about style, balance and technique as it is about jumping. One day Maddie would like to compete in show jumping and Adele already has some young horses bred from a top show jumping stallion, which she is planning to prepare for Maddie to ride.

The stallion Ripples, short for Meersbrooke Ice Ripple, is staying with them for a while. He has a high electric fence around his paddock, as he is a phenomenal jumper.

"We can't afford to pay $60,000 for top show jumping horses, but if we think ahead and breed and train show jumpers ourselves, we can manage it," said Adele.

Maddie takes lessons from Vicky Wilson of Hukerenui.

Adele – "The Wilsons are a big show jumping family. Vicky is a very busy woman but she is generous with her time and spends a whole afternoon a week with Maddie as she recognises her talent."

This weekend Maddie and her ponies are heading to the Horse of the Year Show in Hastings. Before you can enter this competition you need to have earned 20 points at regional show hunter events. Maddie had 160.

Bream Bay News removed from invitation list

The Bream Bay News has been removed from the invitation list for breakfast meetings with the Bream Bay Business and Promotions Group.

The meetings organiser Bill Larsen emailed the Bream Bay News last week with the following statement:

"Several speakers and other people in our group have felt inhibited to openly discuss matters at our breakfast meetings when a representative of the media is present. Meetings of our group, which are by invitation only, have in the past been conducted observing the Chatham House Rule. It has now been decided to introduce a media policy that meetings of our group be held in the absence of persons representing media organisations.

"Accordingly, I have taken you off our invitation list.

"If the group wishes to make a media statement or to have a speaker interviewed we may contact you."

This email followed a meeting two weeks prior, which had been attended by Bream Bay News reporter and business owner Marilyn Cox. Mr. Larsen had informed Ms Cox that the "Chatham House Rule applied at these meetings. When she asked what this meant he said that people could only be quoted if they first agreed to this.

Colin Mitten, Chairman of regional economic development agency Northland Inc. who was guest speaker, agreed that anything he said could be quoted. However Oliver Scott, the director of Marsden City Developments Ltd., said that he did not wish to be quoted as Ms Cox always put what he said out of context.

The Bream Bay Business and Promotions group holds regular breakfast meetings with invited speakers at Waterline Cafe in the Marsden Cove Marina. Past speakers have included: Andrew Forsythe a scientist with NIWA and Malcolm Nicholson, CEO of the Northland Regional Council.

Hole in the middle of newly vested road

A big hole had developed in the middle of one of the new roads on the Marsden City site off One Tree Point road.

The roads in this subdivision have now been vested with the Whangarei District Council, so the Council is now responsible for their maintenance.

WDC Roading Manager Jeff Devine said that after a developer builds a subdivision an inspection is made to make sure the roads are to an approved standard before they are handed over to the Council. "Normally a subdivision has houses or buildings on it by this stage. This one is a little abnormal as no-one has turned up to play. Unfortunately the responsibility for ongoing road maintenance is now with the Council."

Mr. Devine pointed out that the Council is receiving rates for the properties in the subdivision. He said "As there are no houses or businesses built there yet, we are not getting the normal wear and tear. We do get a bit of vandalism and damage, which we have to keep on top of."

The damage to the Abraham Rd. is thought to be the result of a collapsed underground pipe.

A hole has developed in the middle of Abraham Rd. in the still uninhabited Marsden City site.

Ruakaka South Sewer Extension

Work is progressing well on the $9.4 million Ruakaka South Sewer Scheme Extension designed to protect the environment and improve public health in the area.

The system will pump wastewater from 470 individual properties to the Ruakaka Waste Water Treatment Plant which will be upgraded to handle the increased volume of wastewater.

The project is now 65% complete To date we have completed all of the new reticulation, installed 305 new tanks on private properties, and completed all of the properties in Area 6. Over one third of the community are now hooked up to the new sewage scheme.

PROGRESS IN AREA 1

Completed

PROGRESS IN AREA 2

Over 20 properties are now connected to the new system and all properties should be connected to the new system by the end of March.

PROGRESS IN AREA 3

Over 70 Tanks have now been installed in Area 2 and 3. This work should be completed by mid March.

PROGRESS IN AREA 4

The installation of tanks should begin in mid March.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Pump Faults and Alarms

In the event that the alarm goes off or you notice any irregularity with your new system please ring the Whangarei District Council directly on 430-4200. Whangarei District Council will ensure the correct response is directed to you.

CONSISTENT WORK COORDINATION

About 90% of the Consent forms have now been returned to the Project Site Office. Of the remaining 10%, landowners are reminded to return signed forms to the Project Office as soon as possible. This is now very critical as the project is rapidly approaching the completion date. The construction programme is becoming tight, and as such we can not guarantee a sewerage connection to your property if the signed landowner consent form for your property is not received by March 31 2013.

Please return your consent promptly to avoid missing out on the subsidy. Once you return your consent form the Stakeholder Manager will be in touch with you to make an appointment for property audit.

THE BREAM BAY NEWS

14 MARCH 2013

The trophy cabinet in Donna Logan's Peter Snell Rd. home is full. She will have to buy some new shelving, something very sturdy, for her latest prize, the NZ Derby Cup a heavy crystal bowl with a wooden base. On Saturday 2 March the filly Habibi, trained by Donna and her business partner Dean Logan beat all the best three – year – old racehorses in the country in the 2,400-metre New Zealand Derby at Ellerslie. In its 33 year history the race had only been won four times previously by a filly.

Donna - "It puts us right up in the elite group.

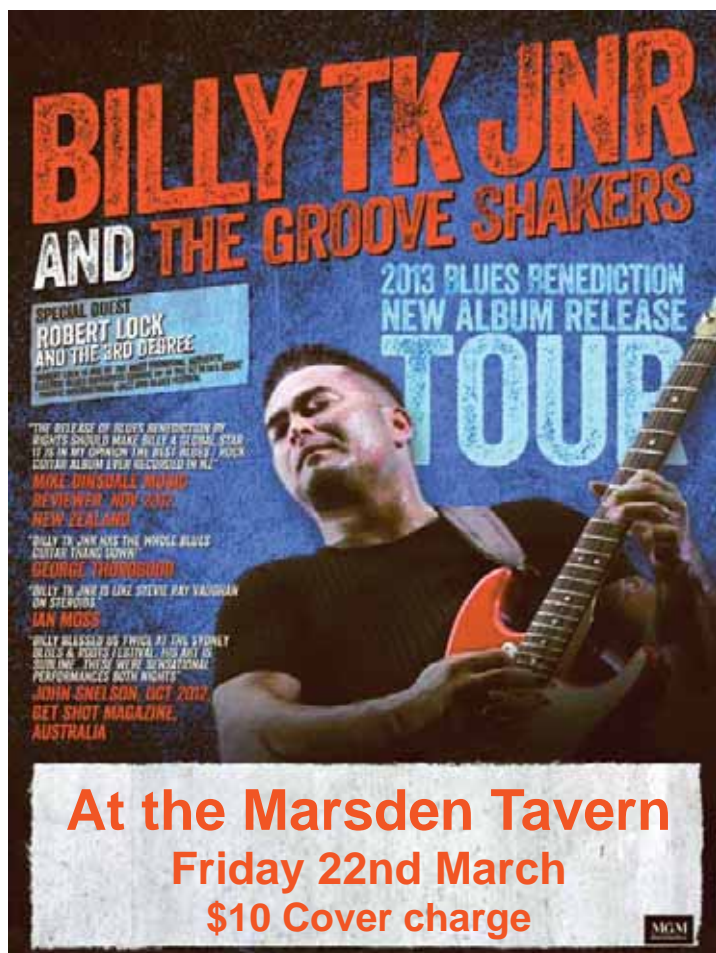

Donna "As I said after the win on Saturday, it's not just Dean and me as the trainers who take the credit, its all our staff, the stable hands, the track riders everyone, they all play their part."

"Our children have missed out on a lot of our time. We couldn't watch them play soccer and rugby. We were always away somewhere with horses. But on Saturday they were there with us to see what we have achieved. We have now gone down in history."

Habibi (the name means darling one in Arabic) is owned by Heather and Peter Crowskey of Lepperton in New Plymouth. Their son Gavin and Heather's friend Pam McIntyre also have shares.

The owners of Habibi travelled to Ruakaka from their home in New Plymouth on Sunday (10 March) and put on a party at Outboards Restaurant for the staff at the Logan Racing Stables as a way of thanking them all for the work they had done with their NZ Derby winning horse. The two children in front are: Page Aukett, aged 9, and Cody Zac Craig Knight, aged 10, who sometimes get to help their parents at the stables.

Donna met Heather about 12 years ago when she came along on a tour of the Melbourne cup which Donna was leading. Following this, the Crofskeys sent her up a horse to train. However it turned out to be not very good and the Logans told the Crofskeys they were wasting their money. In return for this honesty the Crofskeys said they would send them up a good horse one day.

"We never heard from them for a while but then they phoned to say they had this filly they had high hopes for", said Donna.

The Crofskeys still own Habibi's dam as well as a half brother and sister and the win has put up the value of all these horses.

Habibi ran and won her first race at Ruakaka in October. Dean was in Australia at the time and wasn't that impressed when he heard she had won by just a nose.

"I thought she would do a lot better than that."

But the 1,200 race was run in a very fast time of 1.09 minutes. Donna was at the track and heard the time being announced.

"I walked out onto the grand stand and said 'I have found my New Zealand Oaks filly.'"

The Oaks is a filly only race. By winning the Derby, which is open to all three year old race horses, Habibi has done one better than this.

Ruakaka beach played a big part in Habibi's preparation.

Donna said with the dry summer, tracks everywhere are extremely hard”

Dean said the beach is always the same, it gets washed everyday by the tide and is more forgiving of joints and legs.

Donna said Habibi did a lot of work on the beach going into the Derby.

The vet had been in that morning to x-jiray the filly's legs. He found no problems.

"These horses get looked after better than some people's children", said Donna.

She said she never bets on horses.

"It's not the gambling that interests me. It's the pride I take in winning races. It's being competitive."

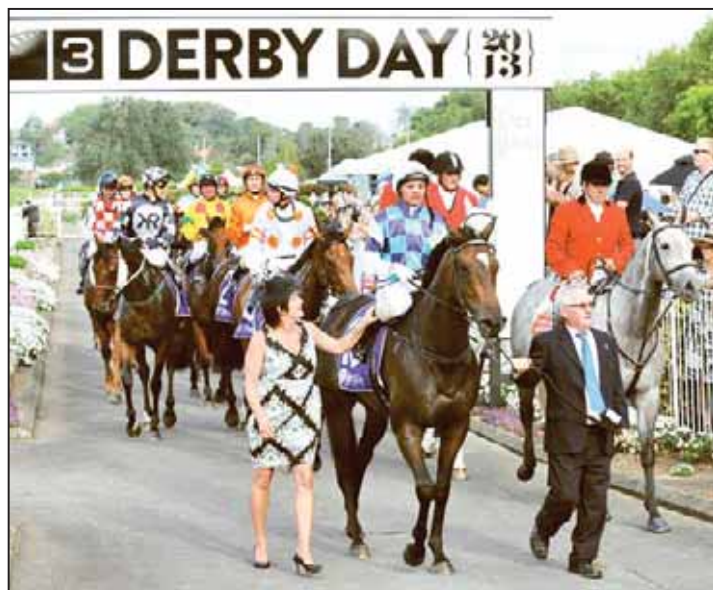

She was honoured some years ago to be named the Bream Bay sportsperson of the year.

"I thought that award went to rugby players and netballers."

She was pleased that horse racing was seen as a sport.

After 23 years of marriage Donna and Dean separated ten years ago. People in the racing industry often compliment them on how they have managed to retain their business partnership.

Donna – “It doesn’t always have to be love and war. Sometimes it (a break up) can lead to much better things. We are still very, very good friends. Our children are happy, our staff are happy and our clients are happy. We have both got lovely new

This was his fifth win at the Derby and gave him the record as the most successful jockey ever in the race. He could have ridden any horse he wanted but chose Habibi. partners. We were all there together at Ellerslie on Saturday."

Donna has had offers of jobs in Japan and Singapore but says, "Ruakaka is home."

"When I go to Australia I say 'I am from Ruakaka. The Australians, well they always have trouble with Maori names, and they say Rua what? But now they have got used to it and always announce me as 'Donna Logan from Ruakaka.'"

She and Dean are both committed to supporting the Whangarei Racing Club and its Ruakaka track. Dean is president of the club.

Donna "Its something we take very seriously We want it (the Ruakaka Racing track) to be there for our grandchildren to be able to enjoy a day at the races in 100 years time.

"Its unique There is no racetrack right beside the sea like this anywhere else in New Zealand or in Australia."

They are proud of what they have done for Ruakaka.

Donna said, "We have taken on kids who have dropped out of school and given them jobs."

She says careers can be made in the racing industry. Stable hands and track riders get offered opportunities to train and work overseas.

They have a very loyal staff with some having worked for them for over 20 years.

Up at the Ruakaka shops that morning people called out "Go Habibi" and gave the thumbs up signal.

Donna - "Its great the support we get from Ruakaka people. We have one of the top racehorses in the country here at the moment. This is something Ruakaka should be very proud of."

EDUCATING PEOPLE TO SUCCEED - WHAKAAKO NGA TANGATA KIA TUTUKI TIKA

From The Principal

He mihi nui kia koutou katoa

The term is progressing well and Easter will be upon us shortly. It has been a long time since Easter fell in a school term. The holiday days for Easter are Friday, Monday and Tuesday.

Uniform: 1) Firstly, thank you to all parents who ensure that their children attend school dressed in correct uniform. 2) All skirts are to be the approved skirts with the college logo on them. 3) However the issue of skirt length has caused concern and we are currently discussing this with students. 4) From the fashion world, "short" length is mid-thigh length. 5) (Rolling the top band of the skirt has never been acceptable practice if it makes the skirt "short".) 6) Skirt length closer to the knee, from a school perspective, is most appropriate but we do understand that as children get taller their skirt length shortens very gradually until suddenly it is too short and then a new uniform is required. 7) (Common sense, as always, is the best solution to the length issue rather than a rule around no more than "x" cm above the knee which leads to significant enforcement issues.) 8) Again we ask for your cooperation in this matter and we look forward to skirt length no longer being an issue.

Zero tolerance competencies: In 2012, the college introduced its zero tolerance competencies which all students are expected to meet at the achieved level or above. The competencies at the achieved level are: Managing self – brings gear, brings books, arrives on time; Relating to others – respectful interactions with teachers, respectful interactions with students; Participating and contributing – tries to do the work in class, seeks help when stuck with work, follows teacher direction. How is your son / daughter doing in meeting these minimum requirements?

Stepping Up: To ensure students make each year at the college as successful as the previous year, they need to understand what the "step up" is. Year 7 and 8 could be argued as very similar with a homeroom teacher and a Whanau teacher looking to see that students achieve their potential. In year 9 and 10, students need to become more self-directed as their specialist teachers do not have the big picture of their achievement therefore it is easier for students to drop off the pace. Our new Parent / Student / Teacher meetings are designed to help address this. Part of the step up in year 10 is starting regular homework as opposed to "as and when needed" homework. The number of hours for this will increase during years 11, 12 and 13. In year 11, students, need to peak their performances for deadlines which occur frequently throughout the year. In year 12 and 13 more and more the subjects, take for granted prior years' learning as a foundation to the current work. Asking questions of teachers is essential to ensure that the foundations for success are in place.

Bream Bay College Gateway Programme – opportunity for FREE help in your business or community group by motivated senior students!

Gateway placements are for students who are MOTIVATED and WANT TO INCREASE their skills, knowledge and abilities related to their career pathway and find out more about a career/industry they are interested in.... Students can gain extra credits and references for their CV (but they do have to work independently and be really interested in what they are doing)....

Gateway placements do not have to happen during school time, they can happen after school, on weekends and in the school holidays. Some of the opportunities for students this year include placements at the RefiningNZ laboratory for upcoming Scientists and we're hoping to gain more of the higher level job placements in the future also. We will also be running a Workplace First Aid course, and a Customer Service Skills course this term which provide students with extra credits towards their NCEA and useful certificates to add to their CV's! This year we are also hoping to link with local businesses/ community organisations who may want one OR a group of students to come and help them with a local project – this may include horticulture students – landscaping/planting, or hospitality students – cooking/waitressing, the opportunities are endless! Ideally they need to do at least 3 days out in the workplace (this can be in school holidays, or weekends and do not have to be consecutive days). If you are interested or would like to discuss it further, please contact me!

Waipu Cove stream consent allows for more dredging if needed

The stream at the southern end of Waipu Cove has been dredged, which has allowed stagnant water trapped there to escape to sea.

The work was carried out last Thursday and Friday after a heavy algal bloom in the sea nearby had dispersed. Prior to this, Whangarei District Council staff were concerned that opening the stream entrance might make the problem worse.

An arborist was called in to take branches from pohutukawa trees on the eastern side of the stream. The branches had become buried in the sand and were contributing to the blockage at the stream mouth.

Sand dredged from the stream bed has been piled up along the edge of the beach and will be planted with dune vegetation to help stabilise the grass reserve behind.

Andrew Carvell, the council's waste and drainage engineer, said the resource consent, which allows the council to carry out this work, has been granted for a 15 year period, enabling more dredging to be carried out should this become necessary.

Mr. Carvell said the council has 49 similar resource consents for harbour or sea outlet points around the district and carries out work on all of these when necessary.

"Mostly we do this to prevent flooding, but sometimes it is about water quality."

He said he had received calls from a number of newspaper reporters, including one from the New Zealand Herald asking about the Waipu stream."

"I have never known so much interest in a stream. All the reporters seem to holiday at Waipu Cove."

A digger dredged the stream at the southern end of Waipu Cove last week.

Proposal for another beach safe zone

A proposal to create a second vehicle free zone on Ruakaka Beach has been proposed as part of a review of the Whangarei District Council's Vehicles on Beaches by-law.

The new vehicle free zone would extend from the Ruakaka river mouth to north of the Ruakaka Village. The proposal was due to go before the Council at its 21 March meeting but has now been withheld for a later date.

A vehicle free safe zone was created five years ago from south of the Ruakaka Surf Lifesaving Club to the river mouth. The by-law, which created this safe zone, is now due for review.

Mike Henehan the Council's By-law Co-ordinator said, however, that before the new safe zone can be created another vehicle entrance would need to be built north of the village. The sand dunes here are under the protection of the Department of Conservation and it is up to DoC to build the access. However, as the DoC is not yet ready to carry out this work the review has been postponed. Shaughan Anderson the Visitor Assets Manager for DoC's Whangarei Area Office said delays in building the new access said, "practically every aspect of the project is a little different to what was expected and therefore is taking a little more time and effort to resolve.

"Design of the accessway is proving "more complex and challenging" then was first thought and the choice of site where it should go is also not straightforward."

Opposites night at the Waterline Restaurant

Last Thursday (7 March) the wait staff at Waterline Café challenged the kitchen staff to an "opposites evening". The kitchen crew became waitresses and the wait staff took over the kitchen.

Waitress Sunny Murray said the kitchen staff "always think they have got it hard and we have it pretty easy, so our girls challenged them to see if they have what it takes to be waitresses."

Sunny said the restaurant was "pretty busy" that evening, so how did they get on in the kitchen.

"We all took on different stations. Me and Hope (Hope Baker co-owner with her chef husband David) took over the meat station and another couple of girls looked after the salads."

What did the customers think?

"Some of them commented that we should be cooks full time."

"It was just a bit of fun really and we decided to raise funds for charity."

Profits from the night were donated to Project Promise (the fundraising effort to build a new oncology unit at Whangarei Hospital). With the help of a Marsden Lions raffle run in the restaurant that evening, the opposites evening raised $1,300 for the cause. In addition money in a donations on the Waterline counter still has to be added in.

Algal bloom moves up the beach

The algal bloom, which was causing problems at Waipu Cove, seems to have moved northwards to Ruakaka.

This photograph of washed up red/brown algae was taken by Joan Pivac on Monday 4 March at the Paradise Shores beach entrance looking north. Another photograph Joan took shows the algae stretching for some distance southwards along the beach as well.

The bloom at Waipu Cove had dispersed enough by the end of last week (7 and 8 March) to allow a digger to unblock the entrance to the Waipu Cove creek without fear of the smelly stuff washing upstream.

Paul Reid, the Northland District Health Board's Public Health Team Leader, said he had sent one his shellfish safety testing team out to

Red /brown algae on Ruakaka beach

Waipu early last week but this person had not seen anything unusual in the water.

Mr. Reid said over the weekend (9 and 10 March) he had visited Uretiti Beach and swam and dug (unsuccessfully) for tuatua as the water looked "quite normal".

He said, although there had been some anecdotal stories about children getting sick, the health board had received no confirmed reports of illness as a result of contact with the red algae.

However, he repeated his standard advice – "If the water is discoloured don't swim in it and don't collect shellfish from it. If you can't see your feet when you enter the water, you shouldn't be there."

Switched on seniors

There were smart phones and tablets in abundance at the SeniorNet regional meeting held at the Bream Bay Community Trust on Tuesday 5 March.

Guest speaker was Grant Sidaway, executive officer of SeniorNet in New Zealand.

"Once it was just a question of which version of Microsoft Office you were using. Now it's quite a breadth we have to concern ourselves with," Mr. Sidaway told his audience which included many SeniorNet tutors from all around Northland.

"Now people ask us 'How do I sync my tablet to by computer. There is a whole explosion of new technology. It is good stuff but it is challenging stuff."

"We have courses to keep you switched on," says the SeniorNet website.

The website explains "SeniorNet is a community training network that supports and motivates people aged 50+ to enjoy and use technology in their everyday lives."

Mr. Sidaway said, "We will be trying to provide you with resources and encouragement and advice on how to make use of these new things at the lowest possible cost."

He said he was currently talking to people at TelstraClear about a week - long volunteer scheme this company has for its employees. Mr. Sidaway is asking if, as part of this scheme, some TelstraClear staff might like to run a training session for SeniorNet tutors.

SeniorNet Bream Bay will be holding its annual general meeting on 27 March at 1pm in the Bream Bay Community Trust Building. Guest speaker will be Steve Green whose topic is "Life begins at 93 with and iPad."

The Bream Bay SeniorNet learning centre phone number is 432 7692.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The Ruakaka Scouts are looking for volunteers to help run our Cub and Kea programmes.

If you enjoy working with young people and want to see them learn, grow, and achieve, we need you to join our team. No special skills are required as full training and support will be provided, as well as parental help at each meeting. If you're good fun, arty, sporty or you just want to share your life skills to help our Youth grow to become the best they can be, we'd love to hear from you. Scout volunteering is just plain fun: "you get to be a kid again".

If you would like to be part of this fun group, please contact Gavin Cyprian on 4328965.
